Dear J.W.,

I recently learned that you are facing a difficult battle with cancer, and I am writing to send you my very best wishes.

I congratulate you for your enthusiasm and determination to improve the lives of others through your foundation. J.W. House is an innovative housing center that will help many families touched by cancer.

Your generosity and compassion challenge other youth to discover a greater sense of identity and purpose in their lives. I truly admire your strength and courage during this incredibly challenging time.

Please know that you will be in my thoughts and prayers.
